

A. STEINHAUS

THE NINE COLOURS
OF THE RAINBOW

CONTENTS

LIGHT	9
A Piece of Glass	10
Simple Experiments that Explained Very Complex Phenomena and Even the Rainbow	13
Questions and Answers	20
What Language Does Science Speak?.....	24
A Word from the Dictionary.....	26
Free Son of Ether	31
Pros and Cons	34
Searches, and Again Bells	38
Light and Shade	43
Light and Electricity	48
Two Discoveries	51
Spectrum of Electromagnetic Vibrations.....	54
Extraordinary Tails	60
The Very Tiniest	63
The Photoelectric Effect	72
Interlude	81
After the Crisis	82
 THE EYE AND VISION	 93
Prelude	93
Our Eyes	94
Properties of the Human Eye.....	105
Colours	129
From Facts to Theory.....	142
Inexplicable Phenomena	144
 TELESCOPES AND MICROSCOPES	 153
Telescopes	154
Microscopes	187

PHOTOGRAPHY AND CINEMATOGRAPHY	210
Imprinted Light	210
A Ray of Light in a Dark Room	212
Photons, Silver and Chemistry	219
Rivals or Friends?	225
The All-Seeing Eye	231
The Three-Colour Theory in Action	243
Autographs of Invisible Particles	246
Recorded Movement	249
Stopping the Instant	252
A Cinematograph Gun	258
LIGHT AND ELECTRONICS	262
Electronic Cells	266
The Multiplication Principle	269
Sensitive Eyes	275
The Fate of the Lost Photons	280
New Roads	283
A Light Amplifier	286
An Electricity Factory	288
Secret of the Code	289
The Electronic Eye	296
TELEVISION	307
Telecasting from Space	315
New Trends in Old Fields	322
The Television Eye in the Air	327
The Control Room Engineer's Helpers	331
Television and the Worker	334
Into the Depths of Seas and Oceans	338
The Eyes and Hands of the Experimenter	341
AFTERWORD	344
APPENDICES	347
INDEX	351