

AN INTRODUCTION TO THE EMBRYOLOGY OF ANGIOSPERMS

P. Maheshwari

CONTENTS

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |     |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| PREFACE .....                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | v   |
| 1. HISTORICAL SKETCH .....                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | 1   |
| Discovery of Pollen Tube—Schleiden's Theory of Origin of Embryo—Discovery of True Relation between Pollen Tube and Embryo—Discoveryof Sexual Fusion in Lower Plants—Discovery of Nature and Developmentof Male and Female Gametophytes—Embryo—Discovery of Syngamy—Chalazogamy—Double Fertilization—Parthenogenesis—Twentieth Cen-tury—References.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |     |
| 2. THE MICROSPORANGIUM .....                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 28  |
| Wall Layers—Sporogenous Tissue—Cytomixis—Cytokinesis—MicrosporeTetrad—References.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |     |
| 3. THE MEGASPORANGIUM .....                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | 54  |
| Integuments—Micropyle—Nucellus—Integumentary Tapetum—Hypo-stase—Epistase—Vascular Supply of Ovule—Archeporium—Megasporo-genesis—Functioning Megaspore—Failure of Wall Formation duringMeiosis—References.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |     |
| 4. THE FEMALE GAMETOPHYTE .....                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 84  |
| Monosporic embryo sacs —Polygonum Type—Oenothera Type— Bisporicembryo sacs —Allium Type— Tetrasporic embryo sacs —Peperomia Type—Penaea Type—Drusa Type—Fritillaria Type—Plumbagella Type—AdoxaType—Plumbago Type— Aberrant and unclassified types — Limnanthusdouglasii — Balsamita vulgaris — Chrysanthemum cinerariaefolium —Or-ganization of mature embryo sac—Egg Apparatus—Antipodal Cells—Polar Nuclei—Embryo Sacs with Disturbed Polarity—Food Reserves inthe Embryo Sac—Embryo Sac Haustoria—References. |     |
| 5. THE MALE GAMETOPHYTE .....                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 154 |
| Microspore—Formation of Vegetative and Generative Cells—Division ofGenerative Cell—Male "Cells" or "Nuclei"—Vegetative Nucleus—De-velopment of Pollen in Cyperaceae—Embryo-sac-like Pollen Grains—References.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |     |
| 6. FERTILIZATION .....                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 181 |
| Germination of Pollen—Course of Pollen Tube—Entry of Pollen Tubeinto Embryo Sac—Rate of Growth of Pollen Tube—Gametic Fusion—Multiple Fusions and Polyspermy—Single Fertilization—Persistence andPossible Haustorial Function of Pollen Tube—X-bodies—References.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |     |
| 7. THE ENDOSPERM .....                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 221 |
| Types of Endosperm Formation—Free Nuclear Endosperm—CellularEndosperm—Helobial Endosperm—Relationships between DifferentTypes of Endosperm—Histology of Endosperm—Xenia—Mosaic Endo-sperm—References.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |     |

